Prepare training data

Preparing training data for learning by adding noise to the already noisy datacube.

We will plot a small section of the PL map corresponding to a region demonstrated in the main text (Figure 2a, 480 nm) to show how the amount of noise in image affect visual preception.

Expected output: a serie of images for training with different noise levels ( $\sigma = 0, 5, 10, 20$  or  $50$ ).

Time cost: 5 min

normalize the image to a data range from -1 to 1 for training, and

(Optional) Train the algorithm

We also provide an already-trained model for quick data analysis. To do so, skip this section or stop the following code at any time and run later sections.

Expect output: training step reaches 10000 and stops. Combined loss is expected to decrease over time until reaching its local minimum.

Time cost: 40 min (Nvidia A100 GPU), 2 hours (GeForce GTX 1080) or 55 hours (CPU)
